CLEVELAND FLIERS ESTABLISH NEW WORLD RECORD

State, County, City Join Forces In Liquor Raids Friday

TWO ARRESTED BY OFFICERS IN ACTIVITIES HERE

Possession Charge Lodged Against S. L. Howard; In City Jail

RAIDERS HIDE AT HOUSE SUSPECTED

Mrs. Jennie Sage Taken To Lisbon After Search Is Made

BULLETIN

Mrs. Jennie Sage was fined $150 and costs following her plea of guilty to a charge of unlawful possession of intoxicating liquors when arraigned in Lisbon late this morning.

Raids conducted in Salem by State Prohibition Inspector J. C. "Cal" Huffman, Sheriff W. J. Barlow, county deputies, and Police Chief T. W. Thompson, resulted in the arrest of two Salem residents—one man and one woman—Friday night.

Seward L. Howard, colored, residing at 25 North Howard st, is in city jail, pending arraignment before Mayor Phil G. Hiddleson on a charge of possession of intoxicating liquors, while Mrs. Sage, 56 Columbia st, is being held in Lisbon, for arraignment on the same charge, as a result of the activities of the dry raiders.

Howard's residence, the police report, was raided about 9:30, and a quantity of beer and liquor confiscated. A pitcher containing a pint of the liquor and a quart bottle of beer were collected as evidence, and Seward brough to city jail by Chief Thompson.

Officers Gain Entrance

Huffman, Barlow, and assisting deputies next visited the residence of Mrs. Sage, who was suspected of bootlegging activities, and laid in wait outside the house for approximately 45 minutes. According to the officers, Mrs. Sage had been tipped off, and remained hidden in her home, which was kept in darkness.

The raiders noticed her silhouette as she passed a window, however, and marched to the rear door, demanding entrance. Mrs. Sage refused to open the door, but after the officials threatened to break it in they were admitted, the report states.

About 30 quarts of alleged beer were found in the basement of the home, on ice, apparently ready to serve. Visiting a room on the second floor, the raiders discovered loose boards on the floor, and uncovered a cache of seven pints of alleged bonded whiskey, and three quarts of "moonshine."

Deputy Sheriffs James Elliot, George Harroff, and Dave Eells assisted Barlow and Huffman in both raids, while Thompson figured in the arrest of Howard. The second raid, on the Sage residence, was conducted while Thompson was escorting Howard to city jail.

Succesful Endurance Fliers Joke Over Hardship Sustained During Long Stay Above Earth

Shocked When Word of Death of Pal Comes; Tell of Riding Out Severe Rair and Electrical Storm; Sleep In Plane Was Nearly Impossible

Airport, Cleveland, O., July 6.—Despite exhaustion, Byron K. Newcomb and Roy L. Mitchell were in high spirits when they landed early today after setting a new endurance refueling record. They joked with each other about incidents that occurred during the flight of the "City of Cleveland."

"Mitch was the dirty pilot," Newcomb told International News Service. "I took a bath aboard the plane every day we were in the air, but Mitch didn't take a bath once." And Mitchell didn't deny it.

Newcomb said they were shocked by news of the death of their friend Waldo Robey, young air-mail pilot who was killed last Sunday morning when his plane crashed in the fog near Columbus.

"We felt pretty badly about it," said Newcomb. "Waldo was a fine pilot and a chap worth knowing."

News Kept Secret

News of Robey's death was kept from the fliers until last Tuesday when they insisted that newspaper, which they had not seen since Sunday, be sent aboard.

Floyd Logan, president of the Cleveland chapter of the American Aeronautical association, said after the flight that the endurance test clearly proved that present day construction of engines and planes is superior to the physical endurance of man.

"Taking it all in all," said Logan, "weather conditions during the flight were far from normal and I think that Newcomb and Mitchell made a wonderful record considering the difficulties they had to surmount."

Mitchell and Newcomb were so worn by their long flight that they were in no condition to undergo questioning at any great length until after they had rested. Soon after landing they were hustled into an automobile and taken to a downtown hotel, where later they will be given the city's official reception.

Tell of Thunderstorm

They were questioned briefly about the terrific thunderstorm they rode out the night before they landed, a storm which grounded the first refueling plane and but for the skill of refueling pilot, Ernest Basham, would have resulted in serious injury to the three men of the refueling crew.

"We didn't once consider landing," said Mitchell. "We were so near our goal then that we simply couldn't let thought of failure enter our minds. We got the breaks and won out. It was one of the worst rainstorms I have ever encountered while in the air."

Mitchell said that neither he nor Newcomb got much sleep during the nights. The small bunk in the "City of Cleveland" was on the floor just back of the motor and the continual roar of the engine made sleep next to impossible even had they cared to try.

MANY INJURED IN THRONG AT PORT

Cleveland, July 6.—Four hours after he was trampled under the feet of milling thousands at the Cleveland airport when the endurance fliers landed, Steve Kusko, 16, died in Berea Community hospital near the airport today from injuries.

At the airport where he was given emergency treatment it was reported that Kusko was trampled on by a horse. Hospital records, however, entered him as a victim of electrocution.

Thus far Kusko's death was the only fatality reported as resulting from the mob scene at the arport. More than a score were treated for minor injuries, but none was in serious enough condition to go to the hospital except Kusko.

Last Link In Air-Rail Route Forged With Columbus Event

Columbus, July 6.—While nearly all "air-minded" Ohioans focused their attention on Cleveland today, where the "City of Cleveland" shattered the world's endurance refueling flight record, citizens of Columbus, unostentatiously, yet arduously, entered into a three-day air fete, which will mark the opening of Port Columbus and the forging of the last link in the trans-continental air rail route.

From his office in Washington, Secretary of Commerce Lamont will press an electric button which will signal the release of the first T. A. T. (Transcontinental Air Transport Company) passenger plane to leave schedule which brings Los Angeles schedule, hich brings Los Angeles within 51 hours of New York.

Henry Ford, and his son, Edsel, automobile czars, who have now interestedly entered the airplane industry, are expected to arrive here Monday morning, to take part in the dedication.

Gov. Myers Y. Cooper will deliver an address following a speech by Dr. W. O. Thompson, president emeritus of the Ohio State university, who will make the dedication talk.

Planes from all sections of the nation swooped down upon the field throughout today and glided to graceful stops, until the field itself looked like the homing grounds of a gigantic fleet of homing pigeons.

The first plane to make the day jump from Columbus and shorten the time from New York to Los Angeles will be named the "City of Columbus."

As the first ship takes off, it will unveil a bronze tablet set in a stone base commemmorating inaguration of the coast-to-coast train-plane service.

PRISON GUARDS KILL CONVICT

Fleeing Prisoner Shot As He Breaks Across Jail Yard

Columbus, O., July 6.—A negro convict was shot and killed by guards within the walls of the Ohio state penitentiary here early today.

He was William Perry, 38, Cuyahoga county, who was serving a 10-to-25-year term for robbery.

Perry, according to the information given Warden P. W. Thomas, had been creating a disturbance in his cell late last night, and was being transferred to solitary confinement when he broke away from Night Captain John Hall and started to flee across the penitentiary yard.

Hall called to the man to stop, but the colored prisoner kept up his race across the institution's commons.

Several guards, posted on the walls, fired at the running man, and Perry was dropped in his tracks.

He died a half hour later in the penitentiary hospital.

It is not known which guard shot the man, inasmuch as several guards discharged their shotguns and 30-30 rifles.

Warden Thomas said it was evident that the convict had been running amuck, and indicated that the shooting of the man by the guards was justified.

Bulgarian Warfare Along Frontiers Brings British Statement; Fight Results In 20 Deaths

Sofia, Bulgaria, July 6. — The British ambassador to Bulgaria today offered the British government's services to help end the Guerrilla warfare along the Bulgarian-Jugoslavian frontier in which about a score of persons have been killed this year.

Frontier turbulence has extended to the Hungarian-Jugoslavian border where three men were killed in a clash between Hungarian Comitadji (Irregulars) and Jugoslavian Border Guardgg. Several were wounded on both sides. The fight occurred near Kelebia.

There was a clash on the Bulgarian-Jugoslavian boundary yesterday in which one man was killed and several wounded. This brought officially reported fatalities in 1929 to 18 killed including two women, but the actual number is believed higher.

California Fliers At 100-Hour Mark

Culver City, Cal., July 6.—Bent on bettering the new Newcomb-Mitchell endurance flight mark, Pilots L. W. Mendell and R. B. Reinhart had passed their eighty-ninth hour in the air at 12:30 o'clock this morning.

Over a radio set on their biplane Angeleno the Californians learned of the new record set in Cleveland and dropped a note asking that their congratulations be telegraphed to the Ohio airmen.

In another message Mendell and Reinhart stated their motor was working better than ever and was consuming less gasoline.

SECRET SERVICE TO CHECK MONEY

Counterfeiting of New Bills To Be Closely Guarded

Washington, July 6.—Extraordinary precautions were being taken today by the U. S. secret service to guard against counterfeiting of the new government paper currency which will be issued to the public in exchange for old, July 10.

Lack of familiarty of the public with the new greenbacks would add to the chances of circulating spurious paper, although the abbreviated money, through design, material and distinctive features under ordinary circumstances is regarded as more nearly counterfeitproof than the present type.

All details of the tremendous task of putting about $5,000,000,000 worth of new money into circulation, thereby completely revising the currency system have been worked out. Approximately 900,000,000 pieces of paper money eventually will be replaced by the smaller type.

While many millions of dollars will be exchanged the process of reorganizing the currency system necessarily will be a gradual one. All small denominations in Federal Reserve and U. S. notes will be issued as fast as the Reserve banks can get them out, but National bank notes will not be distributed in the new size for several months. The printing of National bank currency has only recently been started.

EIGHT ARE HELD IN MAN'S DEATH

Ohio Man Shot While Hunting; Rifle Shot Ended Life

Columbus, July 6—Authorities of two counties, Franklin and Champaign, are cooperating today in an investigation of the fatal shooting of Cunningham Ashenhurst, 56, janitor at the Ohio State university, while hunting in a field near North Lewisburg, in Champaign county, Independence day.

Eight men, four of them negroes, are being held by police in the two counties, pending the outcome of the probe, which started when it was pointed out that Ashenhurst was killed by a rifle bullet, while he carried a shotgun.

It was at first believed the man accidentally shot and killed himself.

Those in custody are M. E. Wilke, William Anderson and J. K. Weaver, who are being held in the Champaign county jail at Urbana, William H. Brooks, Shelby Fugate, Walter Washington, Edward Booker, all colored, and Henry D. Trubaugh, are being held in the Franklin county jail here.

Sshenhurst was shot and killed after he became separated from his companions, and his body was found about an hour later.

MAN ARRESTED ON AUTO COUNT

Reckless Driving Charge Lodged By Deputy; Assault, Battery Charge Brings Fine

Lisbon, July 6—On a charge of reckless driving filed in probate court by Deputy Sheriff George Harroff, Glenn Manley of Unity township was fined the costs in the case and imposition of sentence was suspended by Judge Lodge Riddle.

Manley was driving a small car on the East Palestine-Negley road with four people crowded on the front seat, and when Harroff attempted to pass him, Manley "stepped" on the gas and would not give up a lane of traffic.

Guy Wells of Pleasant Heights paid a fine of $10 and costs when he entered a plea of guilty to a charge of assault and battery before the probate court. Wells cut his brother-in-law with a pair of scissers and attempted to drive his sister out of her own home.

Flight Not Stunt; Proves Aviation Is Making Big Stride

Cleveland, July 6—"This flight wasn't just a stunt," declared Eddie Stinson, noted aviator and designer of the endurance record monoplane, "City of Cleveland" in an interview today. "It was a flight to prove that aviation has passed the stage of infancy."

"In the first place," said Stinson, who flew here several days ago, to watch the progress of the flight, "this flight has proved the durability and reliability of the engine.

"In the second place, it proved that such a flight is not past the bounds of physical endurance, even though theboys were pretty well worn out when they came down. Newk and Mitch had flown a distance of approximately one-third the circumference of the earth at the equator.

"And in the third place, it proved that modern design and construction is such that any well-built plane may remain in the air almost indefinitely."

MOTOR RUNNING PERFECTLY WHEN JAUNT IS ENDED

Exhausted By Long Stay In Air, Aviators Land At Port

Crowd of 75,000 Sees End Of Test; Wives Greet Air Heroes

Airport, Cleveland, July 6 — Exhausted by the tremendous strain of their seven-day flight, Byron K. Newcomb and Roy L. Mitchell landed their big blue monoplane "City of Cleveland" at 12:39:50 today, 28 minutes after they had set a new world's record for refueling endurance flight.

The new record is 174 hours and 59 seconds, the longest period of time any men have remained aloft in sustained flight.

"It wasn't the motor that brought us down," Mitchell told International News Service immediately after the landing. "It was our physical condition. We could go up in the same plane tomorrow and set another new record without even repairing the motor if we had recovered from the effects of the flight.

"The endurance record had been broken, so there was no reason to stay up longer when we were physically exhausted."

The fliers took off at 6:38:51 p. m. a week ago Friday. At 11:10:53 p. m., eastern standard time last night they equalled the former record set over Fort Worth, Texas, several months ago by Reginald Robbins and James Kelly. At 12:10:50 this morning, they officially set the new record.

Under National Aeronautical association rules, there must be at least one hours difference between an old record and a new in order for the latter to be recognized.

Gets Final Refueling

The endurance plane received its last refueling at 6 o'clock last night. At that time the fliers dropped a note which read:

"Motor perfect, everything O. K., a new record is a certainty."

Mitchel, Cleveland-Buffalo air mail pilot who obtained leave to take part in the flight, paid generous tribute to the engine of the Stinson monoplane in which the record was made.

"Our descent was simply a case of machinery triumphing over man," he declared. "The motor would have been good for many more hours sustained flight, but Newcomb and I were not."

Both airmen showed obvious traces of the terrific strain undergone during the seven days they circled above the Cleveland airport, plunging

OLD AGE?

Mr. Henry Ford's article in the current number of the Ladies' Home Journal in which he sets out his preference as an employer for employes between the ages of thirty-five and sixty, has become the subject of widespread comment, both in print and by word of mouth.

Mr. Ford prefaces his statement by saying that age has never meant anything to him either personally or in his relation to others. "We have employed hundreds of thousands of people in the past twenty-five years," he says, "and have had opportunity to learn the comparative value of youth and age in a cold dollars-and-cents way. As a result, we have come to think not of age at all, but only of the experience and the capacity to earn. Any one who stops learning is old—whether this happens at twenty or eighty. Any one who keeps on learning not only remains young, but becomes consistently more valuable, regardless of physical capacity.

"In point of fact, we should prefer, if we could make the choice, to have all our people between thirty-five and sixty years, for then we should have a stable and experienced force. We would not care how much over sixty the men were so long as they could do their work. Under no circumstances would we have a working force made up of only young men.

"It is absolutely necessary in order to get the work through, to have a solid framework of older and more experienced men who know exactly what they are doing.

"It is not to be expected that a man of seventy will have as much endurance as one of twenty-five. It is not at all necessary that he should have, for by the time a man has reached seventy he ought to have something a great deal more valuable than physical strength.

"The records of the employment department show that the work which calls for endurance is best served as a rule, by men who are forty and over. Younger men seem to tire of the jobs of this kind rather quickly and want to be transferred to lighter work.

"Having lived a number of years is a great advantage to any one if their years have brought a background of experience. It is usual to associate age with years because so many men and women somewhere along in what is called middle age stop trying. They let themselves be old."

Such are some of the salient utterances of this billionaire manufacturer, who speaks from a knowledge of his subject gained by his experience both as an employe and an employer of labor. That his article has attracted the great attention that it has is no doubt due to the fact that the position he takes herein is diametrically opposed to a rather general present-day trend on the part of employers to hold that an employe's usefulness has reached its zenith at forty or forty-five.

This latter view, of course is largely the result of the teachings of the efficiency people, and is followed in the main by those who, thus influenced, have become long on theory while lacking greatly in experience. This policy of the theorist, which can not prove other than utterly untenable under the test of experience, has never been adopted, and has been repudiated by Mr. Ford, who is one of the largest employers of paid labor of all history and has made himself the world's richest man in pursuit of his policy.

What Others Say

THE "WHITE ELEPHANTS

When the White Star line brought out the Homeric after the war it was more or less officially announced that the day of the big ships was over. There had been a little mistake about the species; instead of leviathans they were really white elephants, the unnatural progeny of that regrettable Anglo-German rivalry at sea which had just caused so much trouble, and people were not going to build any more of them.

But it was an announcement which appears to have overlooked both the facts of human nature and the inexhaustible depths of the American tourist pocketbook. The last rites had scarcely been performed before the United States Lines and the White Star were locked in a deadly combat over which possessed the bigger ship. The war was purely statistical and it was always a trifle difficult to argue over the Leviathan and the Majestic when those products of American and British genius had both, unfortunately, been built by Blohm & Voss at Hamburg. But it was the first symptom of a new race for prestige and the tourist dollar—a race which is already being transferred from the press agents to the shipyards and is producing a whole school of monsters that promise to dwarf the Leviathan as the Leviathan dwarfed the Mauretania.

Lord Kylsant has informed his stockholders not only that they will get 6 per cent on their common, but that the new Oceanic has been ordered and the work is going forward. It is the first British answer to the challenge put up by the Germans with the Bremen and the ill-fated Europa. These latter vessels, which were both scheduled for this year, are 46,000-tonners, in size below the Leviathan and Majestic, but designed utterly to outclass them in speed and luxury. Speeds for existing monsters are all around 23 knots; a designed speed of 26.5 knots, which is believed actually to be somewhat higher, is a serious threat and it is promised that the Oceanic will have speed and tonnage both. She will be of 60,000 tons, and it is reported will have 26 knots plus.

Since the Mauretania and before, speed has been Cunard's great reliance; and Cunard rumors now hint to two ships to have between 27 and 30 knots and to carry 7,000 human beings at a passage on a tonnage of 70,000 to 80,000. No doubt there is a difference between prospectus and performance, but the level of size and speed alike has clearly gone up into a new class. The French are about to begin a "super Ile de France" of 60,000 tons and—according to reports—27 knots; while the Italians are promising the Conte Azzuro for 1931, with the dimensions and speed of the two German ships.

And the United States? The United States Lines have thrown out rumors concerning two super-Leviathans to develop 26 to 28 knots and Mr. Chapman, who is notably full of ideas and energy, may be able to do something along those lines in spite of the great drawbacks of construction cost and operation under the American flag. And it is not wholly a matter of prestige and advertising. Not only will modern travelers insist upon speed and size where they are available, but these enormous greyhounds will make wonderful troopships and even at a pinch, airplane carriers. So far as the dimensions have been reported only one—the new French liner—will exceed the dimension of the Panama canal locks.—New York Herald Tribune.

THE PSYCHOLOGY OF A SUN-TANNED SKIN

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
(United States Senator from New York)

DR. COPELAND

It used to be that sunburned girls were seen only in the summer time. Now these moderns are sunburned the year round!

Sunburn as it comes from the rays of the sun is painful. It may even result in scars. The sun's rays have certain chemical rays of an irritating and scarring nature.

The texture of people's skin differs. Some have very thin sensitive skins. These are the ones who suffer most from sunburn. Others have coarser skins, which tan but do not burn.

The mode of the moment is the sunburned skin. All women are anxious to have this healthy outdoor appearance. I am in full accord with this idea.

If you cannot take time to go out doors and enjoy the sunshine which gives you that healthy look, then some of these health aids are all right. When you glance in the mirror and see yourself white, pale faced, you look glum. If your color is good you respond to your appearance and feel better.

Beauty aids, whether they be suntan powder, a bit of color or other accessory, add much to your peace of mind. There are wonderful lamps which apply controlled light to the skin and tan it.

You should take excellent care of the skin no matter what your natural color may be. Find the soap that agrees with you and then wash the skin thoroughly with plenty of soap and water. If the skin is dry you may need cold cream or some other lotion.

Old age shows first in the changed appearance of the skin. If you would have eternal youth guard the beauty which lies in the well-cared for skin.

Good looks are more than a matter of mere appearance. There can be no question there is a psychology in it. If you look good to yourself that adds to your self-esteem and self-assurance. We do not go far without these qualities.

It is not for beauty I would have you strive. It is for your happiness and peace of mind that I advise care of the skin.

To be told every day that you do not look well will undermine your resistance. It will make you doubtful of yourself. For this reason make the very best you can of your skin and good looks.

Answers to Health Queries

S. M. A. Q—What would cause the hands to become numb or go to sleep during the day and night?

A—This condition is caused by poor circulation due to a run-down state of health. Try to build up your health in general and improvement will probably be noticed.

L. K. Q—How much should a girl aged 18, 5 feet 5¾ inches tall weigh?

A—She should weigh about 126 pounds.

E. H. D. Q—Can you recommend a hospital where I can be treated for varicose veins?

A—Any hospital will give you the proper treatment.

Eugene M. F. Q—How can I increase my weight?

A—Add to your diet plenty of milk, eggs, fresh fruits and vegetables. Make sure that the bowels eliminate properly. Exercise daily in the open air and practice deep breathing. Take cod liver oil as a general tonic.

The Stars Say—

For Sunday, July 7

Sunday's horoscope favors social, cultural and spiritual activities, but is not especially propitious for other interests. The day should be held sacred to these avocations and pursuits if some sinister developments are to be avoided.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of social and cultural rather than business activities. There may be some plans or ventures in connection with corporations, combines, secret orders or in diplomacy, but it would be well to safeguard against duplicity.

A child born on this day may have many excellent traits and talents, but may succeed best through strategy and diplomacy.

The seventh day this the jubilee of man.—Byron.

For Monday, July 8

Monday's astrological forecast is for unusual upheaval of far-reaching and radical nature. There will probably be a complete uprooting of environment, with keen enterprise and initiative entering into the engaging transactions. It is possible that change of employment may also be involved, but, barring some slight delays and with care in making contracts, all should flourish and be gratifying.

Those whose birthday it is are at the threshold of a year of important change, possible involving change of environment and travel. Employment is likewise attended by change, but with precausion in signing papers and with some small delays or disappointments, the year should bring signal advantages and satisfaction.

A child born on this day may be clever, original, enterprising and inventive, fond of research and travel. It should reach a conspicuously successful place in life.

Genius is its own reward, for a man's best qualities must necessarily benefit himself.

—Schopenhauer.

The apple crop in Columbiana county will be scarcely 25 per cent of the normal yield. The condition is due to the unusual condition of there being no bloom on the trees last spring, which happens only about once in 20 years.

In the Churches

Church of Our Saviour, 227 McKinley ave. Rev. Christian A. Roth, rector.

Services Sunday, July 7, the Sixth Sunday after Trinity:

Celebration of the Holy Communion 7:30.

Church school 9:30.

Second celebration and sermon [illegible]

The thought for this week is taken from Christ's re-publication of the law that God's love for us is the inspiration of our love and life for men, summed up in His teaching (not preaching) on the Mount.

St. Matthew V. 20-37. Speaking with a tone of authority new to His hearers. He put His own new commandment alongside those given by God to men of old. It was His purpose to show the great gulf that separated the morality of the Law from the spirituality of the Gospel, and to lay down new principles for His followers to think out, and themselves apply to their life. He has shown that the old law was imperfect, but to be respected because its tendency was right. He now gives to the brotherhood of Christians a law which completes and supersedes it. Christ made it plain that for the citizens of His new kingdom, the law of life was to be love. In them sins of thought and feeling must be counted as equivalent to sins of word and deed. His reference to Jewish courts of justice show that with regard to punishment, our Lord was speaking in metaphor. No earthly tribunal can search or judge the thoughts and intentions of the heart.

Love can never be satisfied with anything it offers in response to the love of God, but in the act of loving it is simply obeying the primal law of God for man.

LIVERPOOL GETS SCHOOL OPINION

State Educational Director Gives Decision On Methods of Solving Public School Situation

Columbus, O., July 6.—J. W. Clifton, state educational director, announced here Friday afternoon that he has issued an opinion to the school board at East Liverpool, pointing out two lines of action, either of which, he said, they may adopt in completing the election of teachers for the school there.

The first, Clifton explained, is for the board to rescind its former action whereby it selected a superintendent for office next September, and to elect the superintendent to assume his duties immediately.

Then, Clifton pointed out, it would be the sole duty of the superintendent to submit nominations of teachers to the school board.

The other procedure, in event the first is not feasible, the state director declared, the school board could elect teachers on a majority vote on the grounds that there is now no superintendent of schools at East Liverpool.

Bad Beach Delays Flight Start

Old Orchard, Me., July 6.—Whipped into furrows by cross-winds, unfavorable condition of the beach here today forced postponement of the projected flight to Rome by Roger Williams and Captain Lewis Yancey in the monoplane "Pathfinder."

With their giant plane all fueled and ready for the start, an examination of the beach at 4 o'clock this morning revealed that a takeoff under present conditions could not possibly be successful, and reluctantly Williams and Yancey admitted that the start would have to go over for 12 hours at least.

COAST OFFICERS GRAB RUM CARGO

Two Rumners Wounded When Raiders Seize Liquor In Detroit Ship; Value Exceeds $120,000

Detroit, July 6.—Two rum runners were wounded and captured and liquor valued at $120,000 was seized by coast guardsmen Friday following attempts of the smugglers to run the dry blockade here. Three other members of the rum running crew were also captured.

Bert Denta was shot in the foot and Albert Letourneau received a flesh wound when Chief Boatswain's Mate J. T. Hagglove of the coastguard crew seized the rum lugger just off Fighting Island. Letourneau made a spectacular escape by jumping overboard and swimming more than a mile to the Canadian shore. He was apprehended later when he applied at a Windsor hospital for treatment.

STYLE EDICTS

Paris, July 2.—Chic color combinations include every one in the rainbow—and then some. With almost every French designer bringing out a favorite shade no woman need worry about the color scheme she has selected for her summer wardrobe.

Blue seems to be the color of the season, even more than red which is being seen in great quantities But the dark blue, from navy upward, are everywhere. For morning wear it sets off a clean, slim line in delightful fashion. For afternoon, nothing is smarter than dark blue chiffon or georgette. And dark blue lace is lovely at dinner.

A charming ensemble for a summer evening consist of a frock of navy-blue and white dotted chiffon, made with a deep rounded yoke at the hips and a skirt in long graceful points.

Another comes in two shades of blue, the long coat of navy-blue Leda cloth lined with French blue and a frock of navy crepe de Chine with yoke and bands of the lighter shade.

Gray in three shades makes a very successful evening gown. An unusual orange shade of red has come out in crepe de Chine with a lily-of-the-valley pattern in yellow, blue and this red for flowers and delicate line tracing the grass and trees.

Clear yellow, maize, lemon, and deep canary are being worn for street wear as well as evening. A yellow blouse is quite the smartest one for wear with the navy costume.

Held In Shooting

Louisville, O., July 6.—Joseph V. Biller, 62, music store proprietor, and father of 15 children, is being held in county jail here today without bond, pending the outcome of the wounds of Cyril Brown, 16, whom Biller allegedly shot in the abdomen when some youths tossed a firecracker on his porch Fourth of July evening.

Chicago—Mayor Forelich, of Zurich, who bought the government title to bed of Lake Zurich has announced that he will charge all summer cottagers $5 for right to put boats in lake. The mayor's action has caused a revolt among cottagers who have threatened to sue the mayor.

American Beauties Outnumber, But Not Outclass Parisians

Paris, July 6.—"One sees more beautiful women walking down Fifth avenue in New York City than along the Rue De La Paix in Paris," says the French painter Gustave Brisgand, a noted authority on beauty. But the artist hastily added that this refers to quantity not quality.

M. Brisgand went to the United States to find out why American girls always captured the prizes in beauty contests. He has just returned home and even yet he cannot understand it. He says that, while American girls are beautiful enough, they are not any more beautiful than French girls.

"I met somec harming creatures walking along Fifth avenue," declared M. Brisgand. "They were of extremely varied types, sometimes with hair as golden as a sheaf of wheat and lovely blue eyes, and at other times as dark as Italians with bright Irish eyes.

"All of them were uniformly well built and of fine proportions except that they were a trifle flat chested. They were all proud of their legs and have reason to be, for sports have developed their muscles and given them the perfect Grecian line."

VIOLENT WIND SWEEPS EUROPE

Heavy damage was done to crops in Southern Germany Austria, Czechoslovakia, Jugoslavia and Western Roumania.

Shipping was interrupted on the Danube by the terrific winds. Cities and towns through central Europe was damaged by wind and hail.

MOTOR

Pushing, jostling and struggling against the ropes thrown up about the airport a crowd of 75,000 persons set up a deafening cheer as the "City of Cleveland" descended, and the mob made a wild rush to acclaim the fliers. They were held back by police reserves, however, until Mitchell and Newcomb could be helped from their plane and rushed into the airport offices for a much-needed rest

No Ill Effects

Neither flier suffered any permanent ill effect of the long vigil in the air, but both were so nearly exhausted they could scarcely stand alone when they stepped out of the plane.

To the surprise of many, their hearing had not been affected. They said they had no trouble hearing everything that was said to them when they landed, despite the fact that they spent more than a week in the small cabin directly behind the 9-cylinder Wright whirlwind motor

The crowd of more than 75,000 persons which had assembled at the airport early last night to watch Newcomb and Mitchell set the new record, broke through police lines in places and swarmed out onto the field, making it difficult to escort the men and their plane safely into the protection of the hangar

Both fliers' wives were on hand to greet them with a big hug and innumerable kisses when they stepped from the plane.

"We are so glad to have them back with us," said Mrs. Newcomb.

"We are the proudest wives in the world," said Mrs. Mitchell, "of course, we knew Newt and Mitch would break the record. It certainly is good to have them back safely with us."

Otto Leisy, president of the Stewart Aircraft Company, sponsor of the flight, was so jubilant over the success of his boys that he ran up to them and planted resounding kisses on the cheeks of both fliers.

J. C. Hedge, of Canfield, county agent, will discuss "Marketing" at a meeting of the Greenford Farm bureau Monday evening at the Greenford grange hall.

SOLDIER KILLED IN LONG FALL

Walks Through Window In Room of Pottsville, Pennsylvania, Hotel

Pottsville, Pa., July 6. — Sergt. Patrick Seibolt, attached to the U. S. Medical Corps at Denver, died early today at the Warren hospital here of a fractured skull which was suffered when he plunged through a hotel window to the street below last night.

Sergt. Seibolt arrived here last night as official escort for the body of a Pottsville soldier and engaged a room at the hotel. His body was unclothed when found and it is believed the man walked into the dark room and fell through the window.

The low window sill was thought to have been responsible for the accident. The sill was not knee high and Seibolt, unaware of his danger, is believed to have stumbled against the screen which failed to prevent his fall.

Seibolt was rushed to the hospital where he died on the operating table.

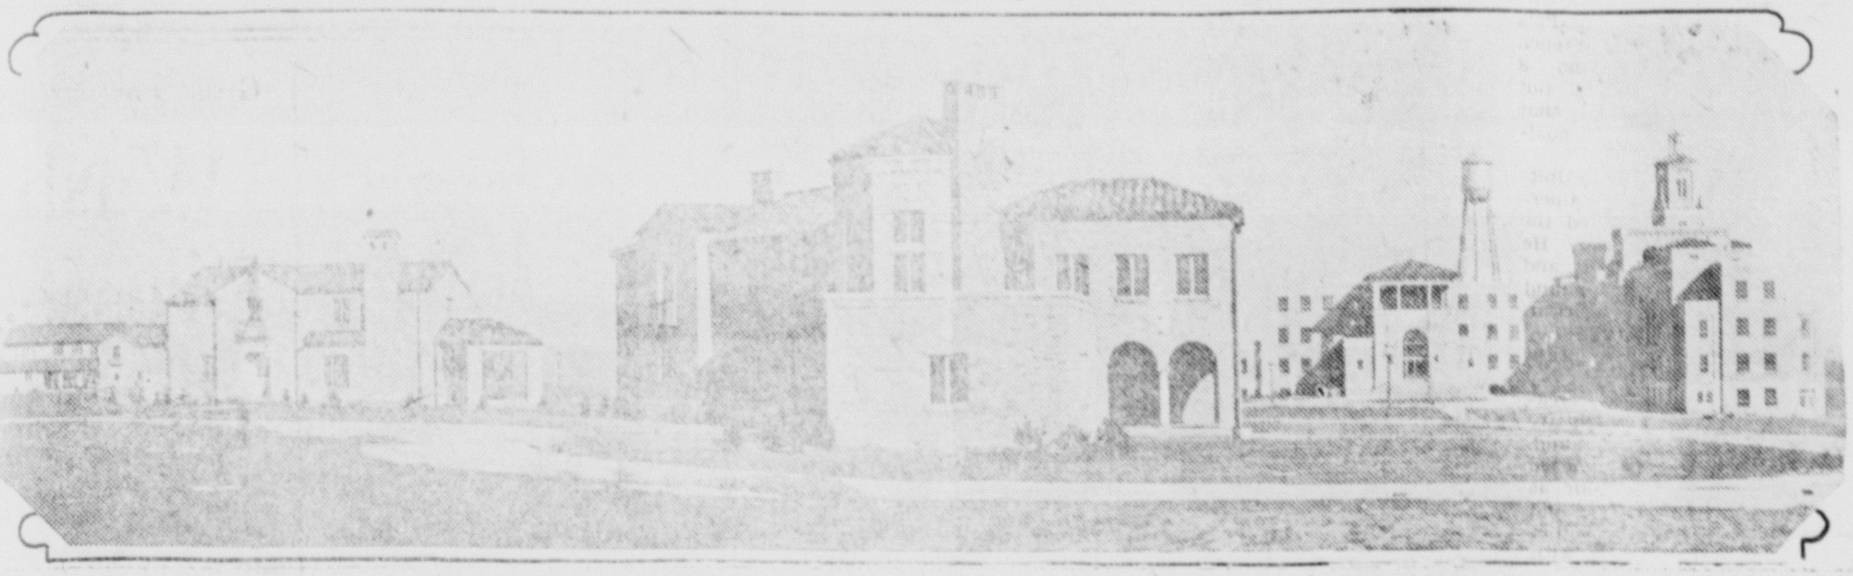
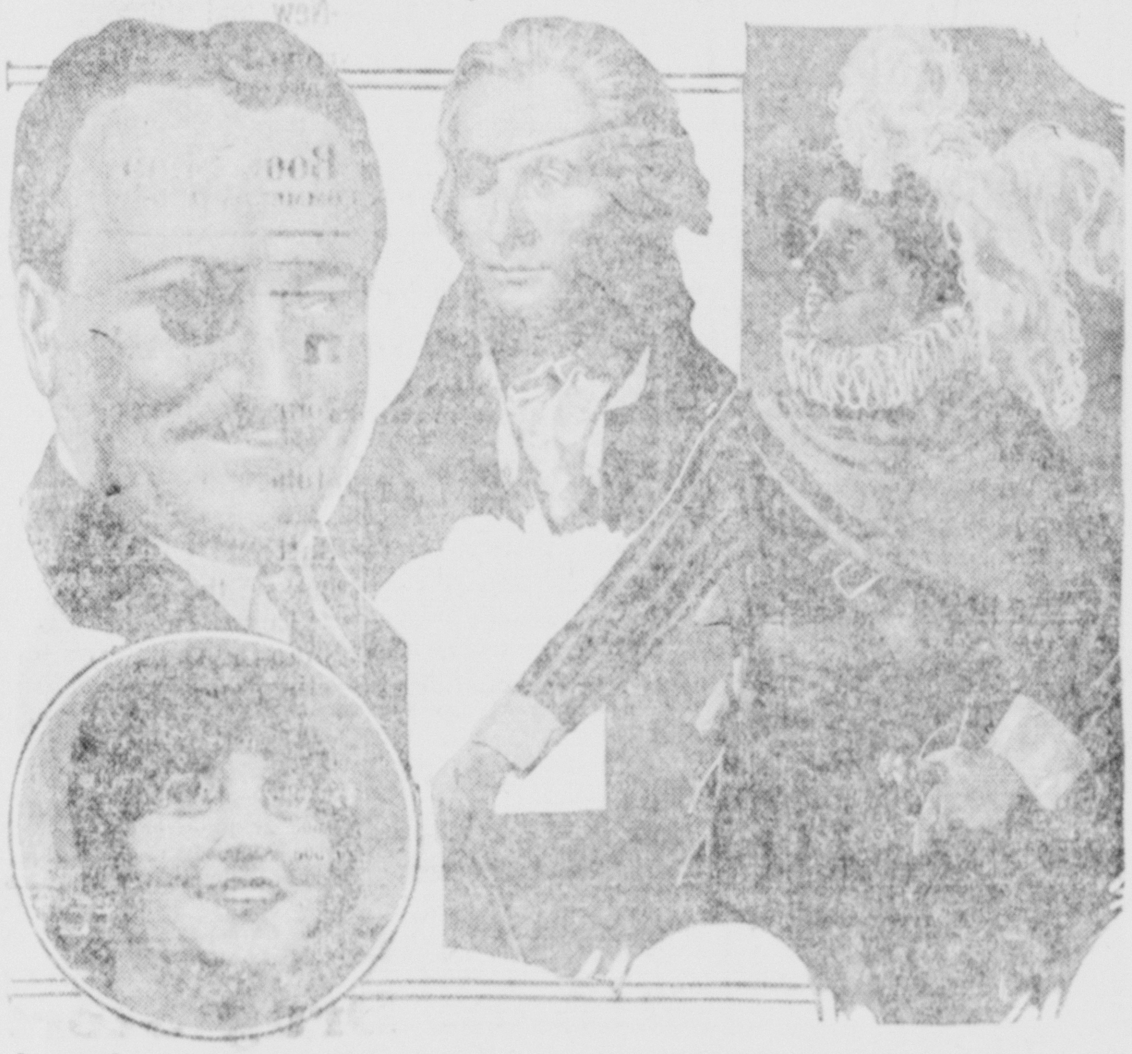
Will Open Children's Unit Of Molly Stark Hospital July 15



THE children's unit at Molly Stark sanatorium, Stark county's new million-dollar tuberculosis hospital, southwest of Alliance, will be opened about July 15, if present plans materialize. The children's unit, which has not yet been named, is the building at the extreme left of the above picture, and sits a little to the north and west of the main hospital. It is the low, three-winged building nearest the Alliance-Canton highway which passes the hospital just this side of "death curve." The large building in the foreground is the nurses' home, and the main hospital unit is the large T-shaped building on the right. It also houses the administrative offices and quarters for the male help. The power plant in the rear of the four buildings is not shown in the picture.

History Shows that Women Always Have Loved Homely Men and Still Do



The late Captain Coli, left, above, French aviator lost in transatlantic flight, who, it is maintained, would have enjoyed even more adulation than Lindbergh if he had lived to complete his flight, despite the fact that he was eyeless and otherwise physically unattractive. Likewise, Lord Nelson, center above, a three-quarter view of whose unromantic face is shown here, won the love of a famous beauty of a previous day, and was otherwise adored by women. Right, Cyrano de Bergerac, the big-nosed wooer of the play of the same name by Rostand, in which he is eventually romantically worshipped by the lovely Roxane. Ruth Elder, left, below, the first woman to make the transoceanic flight, a handsome woman, not to say an accomplished one, has nevertheless not been singled out by men to worship and adore.

YEARS from now, when your grandchildren live in your present house, the same roof will protect them from the elements, if it is made of Johns-Manville Asbestos Shingles.

These sturdy shingles, made of asbestos and portland cement are permanent. They outlast the house itself. Fire will not burn them. Water will not rot them. Sun, rain, wind cannot injure them.

Let us give you an estimate for the last roof you will ever have to buy—a roof of Johns-Manville Asbestos Shingles—a roof for your children's children.

Second Half Of City Mushball League Gets Under Way Monday

Banished Spitball Still Popular With Few Old-Time Hurlers

Official Decree Fails To Force Famous Ball Entirely From Action

It may have been as much as seven or eight years ago that the spitball was to be banished to the outer darkness of baseball's forgotten, by an official decree that applied to all culprits except those who, at the time, were earning their livelihood through the use of this discountenanced delivery.

These holdovers were to be tolerated in the major leagues until such time as they bowed to age and the inevitable. It was a moment fraught with deep poignancy. These doddering, old relics soon would go and then spitball pitching, the agency through which Ed Walsh was given to posterity, would be no more.

It was beautiful reasoning but it all ran in the colors of Mr. Sweeney, the coal dealer, and a lot of anguish was allowed to parade itself into the light of day to no purpose. Spitball pitching didn't die immediately.

Not Dead Yet

It hasn't died yet and, judging by the evidence presented by Burleigh Grimes, Clarence Mitchell, Urban Faber, Bill Doak and Jack Quinn, it won't for some time to come. Apparently one of the most tangible results accomplished by this legislation was to assure major league jobs indefinitely to the gentlemen in question.

Bill Terry, the Giant first baseman, hit the situation full upon its countenance the other day in these few, well chosen words:

"Everybody seems surprised that fellows like Quinn, Mitchell and Faber are able to hang on so long. They would be more surprised to know that the average ball player expected to see some of them stick around for eight or ten years more. They have it on the major league hitters of today because their stuff is faced so seldom; how about the major leaguers of tomorrow?

"There is practically no spitball pitching in the minors because men who might use the delivery know that they can't bring it into the majors; therefore, the young players coming up almost never see a spitter until they get to the big time. Five years from now, the big time will be cluttered up with these young fellows who never faced a spit baller. That kind of thing ought to keep pitchers of that type around indefinitely."

Unfair To Grimes

It may be unfair to associate Grimes' career with legislation that proved unexpectedly beneficial. He was a pitching leader before the rule was enacted, whereas there had been moments when Quinn and Mitchell seemed to be absolutely all over and done with.

Quinn, for example, asked to be given his unconditional release in Boston three or four years ago, saying that he felt he was through and wished to bow himself out gracefully and with some benefit to himself. When he got with a good team, the Athletics, he could win conclusively, if not as often as before, and for the last three years, he has been one of the club's big winners. Quinn, a pitcher since 1903, admits to 44 years and was off the big time for six years between 1913 and 1919. He undoubtedly has benefited by a rule that makes spitball pitching pretty much of a novelty.

So, too, has Mitchell. The Dodgers thought he was through six years ago; the Phillies were sure of it last year. But he finished the season with the champion Cardinals, who found that his left handed spitball added spice to mere novelty to give them a pitcher who is highly effective against certain clubs, notably the Giants, Mitchell is 38 and has been in baseball since 1909.

Only Two Left

It must have something to do with keeping Urban Faber with the White Sox, too. Urban, 41, and identified with professional baseball for 20 years, can still go out there and pitch a ball game, if you space him properly.

Why?

Because Quinn and himself are the only spitballers in the league and hitters don't see enough of them to get acquainted. Doak is barely hanging on, which must mean that he would have been regarded as just plain hopeless, ten years ago.

Grimes is younger than the others and his record benefits accordingly. Right now, he is at the top of his league and, even if the spitballer was rampant through baseball, he probably would be well up with the best. Still there isn't any doubt that the fact that he is an exponent of a delivery that is virtually unknown now has helped him plenty during recent years.

Well-Known 'Blues' Now Being Warbled In Camp Of Cardinals

Redbirds, Unable To Emerge From Slump, Dropping Tenth Contest to Phillies; Cleveland Indians Stage Rally In Seventh to Trim Pale Hose

By Henry McLemore

New York,—July 6—Word that St. Louis has adopted the famous "blues" as the city anthem is expected momentarily.

For the old town along the Mississippi is doing no little wailing these days now that the collapse of the Cardinals has added to its baseball miseries.

Last year's National League champions were smacked by the Phillies yesterday and in being smacked ran their string of defeats to 10. This leaves them just three games north of the soaring Robins in fourth place. It is reported that Cincinnati has moved over on the basement sofa to make room for the Cards if they fail to find some means of checking their headlong descent.

In the only other major league game of the day, the Indians staged a five-run rally in the well-known seventh to nose out the White Sox, 11 to 10.

Giants Meet Dodgers

Today's feature engagement in the National finds New York playing host to their most bothersome enemy, Brooklyn. The two clubs play a single game and then turn to staving off a wholesale invasion of the west. The Giants positive that they belong higher than third place, and unable to secure it by battling the eastern weaker sisters, are downright impatient for the stronger western outfits to arrive. The Reds come first, then the Cubs, Cardinals and Pirates.

The Yankees today begin their second tour of the western circuit hoping that their return to native haunts will find them a good deal nearer the first place Athletics. They meet the Browns today — the same Browns they pretty well cleaned up on an earlier visit.

Philadelphia opens in Chicago and will probably get a laugh or two as the scoreboard records the progress of the little throat-cutting matinee in St. Louis.

COLUMBIANA

The annual picnic of the Presbyterian Sunday school and church will be held next Wednesday afternoon at Peace Valley park. A basket supper will be served.

Columbiana stores and places of business were closed all day Thursday, and, as usual the day was a quiet one, many motoring to parks and resorts to spend the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Chamberlain and daughter, Frances, of Nitro, W. Va., have been visiting for several days with Columbiana relatives and friends.

Harry Troll, Youngstown, visited Wednesday and Thursday with his mother, Mrs. Irene Troll, and family, North Main st.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hadley and family, Lisbon, visited over the Fourth with Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Todd family, Spruce st.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hall and son spent the Fourth at Conneaut Lake, Pa.

Mrs. Sarah Harrold of New Waterford visited Tuesday with Mrs. Joshiah Royer, North Elm st.

Clemmons Webber of New York has been visiting with friends in Columbiana and vicinity for several days.

Mrs. Harry Wilson returned home the first of the week from the Salem City hospital, where she recently underwent an operation.

Mrs. Will Lauten and daughter, Hazel, of Youngstown, are visiting with Columbiana relatives for a few days.

Lucille, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Warner, is ill with the measles.

Mrs. Bert Rankin, Leetonia, was a Columbiana shopper Wednesday.

Schmeling Wants Big Bout

Max Says He Hopes Jack Makes Promise Good

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

Atlantic City, N. J., July 6.—"I hope Mr. Dempsey does not change his mind. I hear that he sometimes does."

Max Schmeling, the German heavyweight feller, was very busy doing nothing down here today and stopped right in the middle of everything to make this significant remark in connection with Jack Dempsey's published challenge to heavyweights in general and to himself in particular. In this precise but halting English, Schmeling thus declared himself to the effect that not only was he accepting Dempsey's challenge but, in turn, was challenging Dempsey to accept his acceptance. As it were or was or both. He seemed to fear that "Mr. Dempsey," as he called him, was talking just for the sake of giving his adenoids a good, fast workout.

In brief, the German says he hopes that Dempsey's threat to return to the ring turns out to be a definite promise. He apparently had been informed that John, holding him in a rather light esteem, had wanted Schmeling for his very own, for he hastened to oblige today by waiving all rights in the matter of naming time, place and the number of rounds. I may be mistaken but it seemed to me that the German wished to give the impression that he didn't care for "Mr. Dempsey" in a big, unselfish way.

First Annual Tennis Tourney Starts At Club Courts Sunday

Silver Trophies Will Be Awarded Winners In Each Division

First matches in the Salem Country club tennis tournament will be held at the club courses, starting Sunday morning. The schedule for the entire competition will be arranged tonight by the club tennis committee, and will be posted at the clubhouse.

Twenty entries were received up until Friday night, Tom Moore reported, the majority being for competition in the Class A tourney. Winners of the Singles A title will be awarded a large, 10-inch, silver trophy cup, while in the doubles, individual eight-inch statuette trophies will be awarded.

The B singles champion will receive a six-inch silver trophy cup, while the two doubles winners in this class will each receive a four-inch trophy. Trophies will be placed on display in the show windows of the Eckstein company, early next week.

Entries will be received up until 6 o'clock today, Moore stated. All members are urged to put in their names, especially junior members, who will be classified in the B division.

The club's representatives in the annual Columbiana county court tournament will be selected from the outcome of the event.

The tournament will extend for several weeks, and is the first sponsored by the club.

Paris—The water waves and marcels of Christian Reynolds, Paris coiffeur, are considered more precious than the nocturnes and preludes of Paderewski.

For Reynolds has just insured his fingers, so adept at inducing the right ondulation here and the perfect dip there, for one million francs, or $40,000.

Evansville, Ind.—The female vanity of Dorothy Miller, of Evansville, probably saved her from suicide by drowning in the Ohio river near here. As she prepared to throw herself into the water, a shoe came off. The pause she made to adjust it was just delay enough for James Chenault to gain her side and persuade her to remain in this world.

Nine Teams Entered In Battle For Title Now Held By Damascus Ten

The Damascus Quakers, definitely having been decided winners of the mushmall title in the first half of the Salem playground league, the closing round will get under way at Centennial park, Monday.

The Quakers hold the title by virtue of their sensational 5-4 win over the Colonial Billiards, their seventh straight.

Nine teams will be involved in the battle for the title during the coming half, with the announcement of the National Sanitary company, that it will place a team into the loop. The Sanitary tossers played their first game this week, and handed the Maccabee lodgemen one of their worst defeats of the season in five innings, by a 9-1 score, and gave every indication that they will be in the titular battle to the finish.

Due to the number of teams now involved in the competition, two games will be played Mondays and Tuesdays of each week, and another game on Wednesdays. Each team will play at least one game weekly, while all play two contests at least one week during the season.

Runs Eight Weeks

The league is scheduled to run for eight weeks, closing during the week of August 27.

The first half was not the highly successful league organization that the city sponsored last year, but this was due more to the consistently inclement weather than anything else. Then too, teams failed to appear for games when scheduled on various occasions, fans excursioning to the park time after time without getting to view a contest, until it became tiresome.

Last night two games were slated but the principal contest, the baseball game between the Furnace and Masons was called off at the last minute, too late to announce it to fans. Unless some action is taken to eliminate this problem in both loops, interest will continue to die out.

Start At 5:30

First games will start promptly at 5:30. All four teams are expected to show up at that time, if possible, and the first two teams to put in their appearance will get the field. It is possible, too, that arrangements will be completed for another field for games.

Here is the schedule of the second half:

Second Half Schedule

Monday, July 8—Damascus vs Post Office; Kiwanis vs Billiards.

Tuesday, July 9.—Furnace vs Sanitary; Merchants vs Maccabees.

Wednesday, July 10—Sanitary vs Mullins.

Monday, July 15.—Post Office vs Mullins; Billiards vs Merchants.

TWO KILLED IN TRACTION RIOT; HUNDREDS HURT

Union Workers Die In Strike Disorders At New Orleans

New Orleans, La., July 7.—Following two days of rioting in which two persons were killed and hundreds were injured, police today were busy breaking up sporadic gatherings of street car strikers and sympathizers in an attempt to thwart further violence.

Two union men, Sylvan Thibodeaux and Joseph Molinerio, are dead as a result of the riots, and William T. Fort, a union conductor, was so badly wounded he may not recover. The list of injured ran into the hundreds, including many policemen. Two hundred unionists are under arrest.

Fearful of a recurrence of yesterday's disorder and vandalism, the New Orleans Public Service, Inc., was prohibited by the city commission from making further efforts to resume street car service with strike breakers. The riots followed attempts of the car company to start operation.

The fury of a mob which had gathered Thursday night swelled rapidly yesterday when the first car moved from the barn, and 2,000 men and women charged it. It had to return to the barn. They did the same to the second car, and finally took possession of the third and wrecked it.

The car tracks were reported torn up by strikers in several sections of the city. Reports of disorder from all sections were frequent, and riot squads were sent every few minutes to disperse gathering mobs.

MOVIES
In Playhouses Of Salem

Grand Theater Closed

Work will start Monday on the improvement of the Grand theater, Virgil Rakestraw, manager, announced today, forcing the closing down of the playhouse for several weeks.

New upholstered seats will be installed. Various other improvements will also be made. Definite plans for improvement have not been announced.

"Syncopation" Coming

"Syncopation," bringing Fred Waring and his famous orchestra to the screen for the first time in a feature picture, will be the attraction at the Royal all next week, Manager Sheffield announced today. The play stars Waring's troupe and Morton Downey, celebrated recording tenor, formerly soloist with Paul Whitman's orchestra.

Downey is cast as a song writer, who has won success, but still clings to the customs he abided with during his days as a struggler. He shuns the aristocratic class, and sympathizes with the plight of his friend, Benny, a dancer, whose wife aspires for society laurels. Flo is Barbara Bennett, while Bobby Watson plays the part of Benny.

Peggy, Downey's sweetie, is Dorothy Lee, another songster of note, and they go their own way, having their good times with the middle class, which is hated by Benny's wife. The latter finds social triumps within reach when she becomes infatuated with Henry, who asks her to divorce Benny. The usual complications set in—she leaves her husband but they are brought back together in the fine, romantic climax of the picture.

At The State

Another all-talking comedy will be shown at the State Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, in conjunction with "Careers" a 100 per cent talkie, starring Billie Dove.

"Careers" is rated as the greatest picture created with Miss Dove in the leading role. Antonio Moreno is cast opposite her, sharing honors with Wallace Beery. Carmel Myers is seen in an important singing and talking role. It is the story of the price a woman had to pay to maintain happiness in her home and the great problem facing her when her husband is facing ruin. She had the power to save him, but the price was high, it being the story of a woman's honor versus her husband's career.

Talking Comedy

Lloyd Hamilton, comedian of note is the star in "His Big Minute" an all-talking comedy the second to appear in Salem.

Fannie Brice's celebrated "My Man" comes to the State the final three days of the week. Miss Brice, of stage fame, makes her screen debut in this picture, but is cast in a role typical of her stage performaces, giving her ample opportunities for all her singing and dancing talent. She is shown as the oldest of three orphans in a tenement house, working in a factory. She is in love with Guinn Williams, and is about to marry him, when she finds him in the arms of her youngest sister.

It is a powerful drama, with Miss Brice and Miss Myers singing several appropriate numbers.

"The Two Lovers," starring Ronald Colman is at the State tonight. "Abie's Irish Rose" is at the Grand, while a Hoot Gibson westerner is at the Royal.

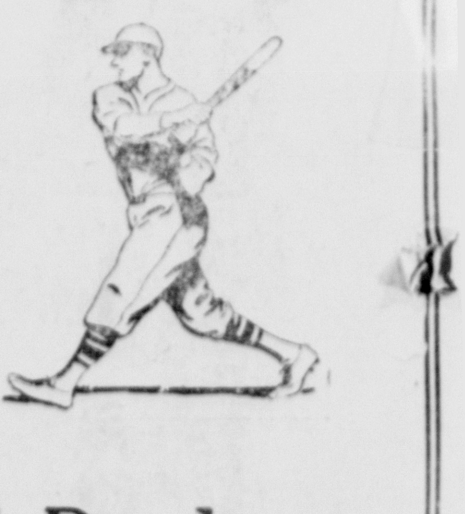
"Right on the Nose"



THERE'S no thrill in baseball quite like the one that comes when the bat cracks the ball "right on the nose."

There's no thrill in life quite equal to the knowledge that tucked away in a savings bank is a good, big, sound savings balance.

You can have that kind of a savings account if you hit it 'right on the nose" each week with a savings deposit.
